

National jazz recording artist and composer Rob Zinn currently lives in Delaware. While this Delaware based jazz-group shares a love for straight-ahead jazz, the group's songs infuse elements of funk, latin, R&B, rock and pop woven around a smooth jazz groove. The group features Rob Zinn on trumpet/flugelhorn/vocals, Tom Palmer on piano, Sam Nobles on bass, Wes Morton on Drums and Kevin Lyons on sax/vocals. Formed in 2014, the group has performed at the Clifford Brown Jazz Festival as well as venues throughout and beyond Delaware. In September of 2016, the group released their debut album Yesterday Again and features national recording artists Andrew Neu on sax, Gerald Veasley on bass, Lawrence Young on vocals and Rafael Padilla on percussion. "Trumpeter Rob Zinn has a knack for composing songs with infectious melodies. His debut project is engaging and it was a pleasure to be a part of it!" - Gerald Veasley

"Great sounds coming from Rob. A very, very fine player with a great supporting musical cast! Give it a listen, for sure! The Wilmington trumpet dynasty is secure." - Winston Byrd

"Rob Zinn's debut album is an inspired collection of contemporary jazz filled with real musicians, playing music that's honest and not afraid step out of the box. Each track represents a different facet of Rob's professional career and yet maintains a cohesiveness that works like a great symphony!" - Andrew Neu

"I'm excited to be working with up & coming trumpeter Rob Zinn. Rob's talent is evident on his new CD Yesterday Again, which features guest appearances from Andrew Neu, Gerald Veasley, and other notable artists. New single/title track "Yesterday Again" going to radio in February 2017!" - Jason Gorov, President at Gorov Music Marketing

"Yesterday Again - a fine debut album from Rob Zinn- an eclectic mix of grooves and styles with great musicians. The first single and title track "Yesterday Again" featuring Sax man Andrew Neu is already a firm listener favourite - Highly recommended" - Richard Edwards - SmoothGrooves Radio UK

"Trumpeter Rob Zinn may be new to the smooth jazz genre but his debut album "Yesterday Again" is deliciously filled with a great mix of jazz, blues, funk, latin, R&B and pop styles. "Yesterday Again" will leave you wanting "More Tomorrow". - Norrie Lynch aka The Groovefather Smooth Jazz 'IN THE MIX' Scotland.
